BRITISH VIEW NOT CHANGED

Would Postpone Locarno Conference if Germany and Italy Not Joining

LONDON, July 15 (AP)—Informed sources said tonight, following a Cabinet meeting, there was no change in Great Britain's attitude that the Locarno conference should be postponed pending efforts to bring in Germany and Italy.

Sir Robert Vansittart, permanent Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, was understood to have outlined the reasons for the British stand to the French Ambassador.

It was predicted here that the proposed Locarno conference would be indefinitely postponed.

WOULD WIDEN BREACH

One reason for Britain's attitude was said to be that a three-power conference would widen the breach between Germany and France and make it more difficult to secure Germany's return to the League of Nations.

It is felt that France and Belgium already have ample assurances of Britain's support in the event of unprovoked aggression by Germany.

With invocation of the escalator clause after the remilitarization of the Rhineland, and it is not considered necessary now to reaffirm them.

TO REGAIN TRADE

Runciman said he hoped the lost British seaport trade with Italy would be regained and told the House steps were being taken to get in close touch with the authorities in Rome in order that obstacles might be removed as soon as possible.

JOIN THEIR EFFORTS

PARIS, July 15 (AP)—France and Belgium joined efforts tonight to induce Great Britain to attend a Locarno conference without Germany or Italy.

Both powers were agreed, authorized sources said, that Great Britain must be called upon to fulfill the

Ethiopians Keep Railway to Addis Ababa Cut—Roads Impassable—Planes Cannot Land

PARIS, July 15 (AP)—Official French circles expressed some concern over the safety of the Italian garrison in Asmara, Abyssinia, with the disclosure the French railway from Addis Ababa to Djibouti, French Somaliland, has been cut since July 6.

Persons close to the situation said the garrison had supplies for less than three weeks when the last train reached Addis Ababa nine days ago.

As soon as the Italians repair breaks in the line, the Ethiopians will cut it in other places, they said.

Motor roads from Eritrea were reported washed out by rain, and airplanes could not land or take off because of heavy mud, cutting off other sources of supply.

Larison, Phoenix, Ariz., policeman and delegate from El Zabarah Temple of the Shrine, who had been needed in a hurry today in the same police powder car he "borrowed" as a joke "I always do this in convention cities," Larison explained. He laughed and laughed.

"We always do this," said the policeman, stretching Larison flat and yanking off his boots.

They tickled his feet. They laughed and laughed. But Larison laughed loudest.

Cairn Marks a Historic Achievement

Shown above is the memorial cairn unveiled last week on the site of Fort Alexandria, thirty-five miles south of Quesnel. It was erected by the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada under direction of His Honor Judge F. W. Howay, who delivered an outstanding address upon the occasion. The cairn commemorates the farthest descent of the Fraser River by Sir Alexander Mackenzie, in 1793, and the trading post later erected there by the Norwesters, who merged their interests with those of the Hudson's Bay Company in 1821.

Board of Trade Head Can See Encouraging Signs in State of World's TradeBritish Exporters' Hopes Centred for Present on Intra-Empire Business*BIG IMPROVEMENT IN GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, July 15 (AP)—Samsons cost Great Britain $4,000,000 ($20,000,000) worth of exports to Italy during the first half of the year, Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, told the House of Commons today.

Reviewing Britain's trade position for the past year, the minister said that British exporters' hopes would, for some time, be centred on expansion of trade with the Empire and with the rest of the sterling area. World trade as a whole, however, revealed encouraging features.

TO REGAIN TRADE

Runciman said he hoped the lost British seaport trade with Italy would be regained and told the House steps were being taken to get in close touch with the authorities in Rome in order that obstacles might be removed as soon as possible.

Clubs tonight passed a resolution urging the National Council of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation to "open negotiations with the Communist party with a view to exploring the possibilities of affiliation of the Communist party of Canada with the C.C.F."

Another resolution asked the national convention to give the Alberta body "autonomy with respect to the co-operation of the C.C.F. with other Socialist organizations."

New Type of Machine Built At Royal City After Years Of Study

NEXT WESTMINSTER, July 15 (AP)—A new type of helicopter to be used for fire-fighting purposes, which can be lifted or lowered vertically, is undergoing final tests here by its inventors and manufacturers, John Heas & Sons.

These trials will bring to a close fifteen years of study and experiments which have been financed by several business men here. A total of $30,000 is said to have been spent in experiments and building.

HAS TWO PROPELLERS

The plane weighs a ton, is powered by a 210-horsepower motor and has two propellers, one in front and the other at the rear. They revolve on vertical movable shafts and after the plane is in the air the first propeller is dropped to a horizontal position to drive the machine. Each propeller has four blades and is shaped like an umbrella.

The helicopter has a passenger seat in the centre between the two propellers.

WIDESPREAD FOREST FIRES IN ONTARIO CAUSING HEAVY LOSSRivers in Drought Section Reduced To Mere Brooks

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—Graphically illustrating the effects of the prolonged heat and drought, streams over Middle America approached new low stages at numerous points. The Ohio, a menace to life and property only a few months back, was trickling along at one-seventh of its Spring flood tide; its flow estimated at 8,200 cubic feet a second compared to 568,500 recorded March 28.

Damage in Algoma District Alone Estimated at $2,000,000—Nearly 3,000 Men Fighting Flames Along 700-Mile Front—Many Blazes Reported Out of Control

Residents of Geraldton Are Ready to Flee From Town

TORONTO, July 15 (P)—Damage to Ontario's northern forests was estimated in the millions of dollars tonight as nearly 3,000 smoke-begrimed fire tasters and volunteers fought desperately to check flames that raged along a 700-mile front. In the Algoma district alone fire that still raced through some of Ontario's finest pine country was said to have devoured timber worth more than $2,000,000.

Two big fires, each of which covered eight square miles, joined forces and were sweeping through twenty square miles of Algoma bush tonight.

MANY FIRES START

In the Sudbury area, fifty-three active fires, several of which were said to be "out of control," made forestry officials continue to work at fever pitch. Eleven new fires started today and 850 men were scattered throughout the district struggling to vanquish the flames.

Smoke and flames spurted dangerously from bush fires in the Geraldton area with the situation "definitely bad." The 400 citizens prepared to leave the threatened community on a moment's notice. There were no signs of alarm.

Canton Government officials sought to form a new session of the Kuomintang Central Executive Committee to order war against Japan. The committee, in a meeting which ended at Nanking last night, rebuked Southern leaders and dissolved the Southwest Executive Committee of the party.

HEADQUARTERS SET UP

An "anti-Japanese headquarters" was established at Canton with General Chang Chia-Tung, discharged at Kwangtung Province, leader-in-chief by the Nanjing Kuomintang Conference. In charge.

IRONCLAD 300 new airplanes from Japan have bought 300 new airplanes from Japan.

HONGKONG, July 15 (P)—Stabborn Southwestern Chinese flouting Central Government "discipline" pressed an anti-Japanese crusade on two fronts tonight.

From the North Bay area came news the fire situation had improved on all fronts. Only one serious blaze caused concern.

BLOWING TOWARD TOWN

Flames crept in the bush half a mile south of Geraldton, but even with a wind blowing toward the town the fire seemed to make little progress. A mile and a half to the south, the Finnish settlement of Jonesville was menaced for a time but the blaze later was brought under control.

Ironically, it was reported, Canton had stored water as a precautionary measure. An emergency train with adequate passenger capacity waited on the tracks, ready to pull out at a minute's notice.

PARCHED CROPS CAUSE ANXIETY

Temperatures Drop in Most of Heat Belt Section of Canada and U.S.

TORONTO, July 15 (P)—Farmers throughout Ontario turned anxiously to the weatherman tonight for a promise of rain to aid parched crops and in some cases to prevent their almost complete destruction as lowered temperatures told of the passing of the worst heat wave the Province had ever recorded.

Freed from heat that shot thermometers past the 100-degree mark for days, crops revived slightly but cool, life-giving rain was badly needed to restore them.

STIFLING HEAT CHECKED

CHICAGO, July 15 (P)—Moderating masses of cool air from a Canadian high-pressure area checked the stifling heat in the Great Lakes sections tonight and lent its tempering effects as far East as New York.

Deaths passed 3,848 in the nation.

Although several points in the Northwest had readings above 100, much of that section was cooled by northwesterly winds.

QUINCY IS HEAT CENTRE

Early in the afternoon, Quincy on Central Illinois' western boundary, reported a 113 degree maximum. Other "hot spots" were Indianapolis, 102.9; Clarendon, Tex., 110; Fall City, Neb., 106; Kansas City, Mo., 104, and Ponca City, Okla., 108.

SPLIT IN LABOR UNIONS AVERTED

WASHINGTON, July 15 (P)—A threatened split in the American Federation of Labor was averted for the time being, at least, today when the Federation's Executive Council decided to give twelve unions a trial on August 3 to twelve mail and freight.

A subsidy will be paid by the Great Britain, the United States, Canada, the Irish Free State and Newfoundland concerned last August in Ottawa and Washington.

The Air Ministry's statement was as follows:

"It is proposed to conclude an agreement with Imperial Airways for the establishment in the Autumn of 1938 of a regular weekly trans-Atlantic airplane service concerning which representatives of

Rain Makers Plan to Offer Services to Ontario Government

Two "Experts" Want $1,500 an Inch for Producing Precipitation in Each Area of Thirty Square Miles—Two-Day Limit

WINDSOR, Ont., July 15 (P)—Hon. Duncan Marshall, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, may have as visitors tomorrow two modern versions of the Pied Piper of Hamelin who will offer to end the present woe of drought-stricken farmers by making the gentle rain fall from the heavens.

What is more, they will offer to do it at a flat rate of $1,500 an inch of rainfall for each area of thirty square miles. If they fail to produce the rain within forty-eight hours, they say, they will forfeit twice the sum contracted for.

The two who claim to be able to attract rain to a given area by "ringing the heavens and "electrical broadcasting through the clouds," are Edward Twardus, young New Yorker, formerly associated with an inventor who has completed a rain-making machine, and Frank Clark, forty-five years old, born at Chatham, Ont., who claims he brought a storm on Brant County two years ago and ended a "two months' dry spell."

REFUSED ENTRY TO U.S.

Twardus sought to take Clark into the United States today to succor the devastated Midwest, but border officials would not grant him admittance. For that reason, Twardus has decided to offer his service to Ontario.

A news item quoting an agricultural authority as saying that sixty hours' rain and a second planting would save Ontario from a vegetable famine, is what has lured the pair to seek an audience with the Government.

Twardus became associated with Clark because his former partner took ill some years ago and retired from active rain-making. Clark said today he hadn't done any active rain-making since that time, because someone in the Brantford district is operating an electrical set which interferes with his own "machine."

OTHER ACCOMPLISHMENTS

By the way, if anyone wants it, Twardus claims he also can turn on sunshines, will even say if the Meteorological Bureau says there's a storm headed your way. For outdoor events, such as horse races, fairs, parades, baseball games, Twardus will guarantee to keep the weather clear within a radius of twenty-five miles of a given point for $1,000 a day. The operation of his machine does not in any way interfere with the health-giving qualities of the sun either.

DROWNS ATTEMPTING TO AID TWO WOMEN

AUSTORIA, Ore., July 15 (P)—Donald MacCollum, fifty-two, Edmonton, Alberta, cattle buyer, drowned in the surf at Seaside today.

Information here indicated he attempted to aid two women who were beyond their depth and was himself overcome by the waves. Lifeguards brought him in almost immediately, but efforts at resuscitation failed.

The women were brought safely to shore.

JOYOUS WELCOME

Very Rev. C. S. Quailton, Dean of Columbia, who with cathedral and diocesan officials awaited the bishop at the West door, replied, on behalf of the chapter and wardens of the cathedral, offering their new bishop "joyous welcome."

The procession then advanced to the East end of the church while the choir and congregation sang the "Psalm of Entrance."

At the conclusion of this the bishop made request for enthronement.

S. Chapman, Sandwick and Comox; Rev. Canon Shattock, Tilllicum; Rev. J. H. Burrows, West Coast Mission. Rev. Robert Connell was also present.

BISHOP'S ADDRESS

The bishop's address was, in part, as follows:

On this great day in our Diocese our minds look backward and forward.

The Diocese of British Columbia, Mother Diocese in the Ecclesiastical Province of the same name, has now been organized, and at work for seventy-seven years. It has had its goodly tradition of faithful bishops, priests and people.

We have had the quiet and faithful ministry of priests in many parishes up and down this Diocese and Province. We have had lay saints, unnamed and unremembered.

It is that we might better serve and uphold this great tradition, that we are organized as a fellowship of clergy and people today.

BISHOP'S IDEAL

I am not unmindful of my duty tonight, as I enter upon the work of chief pastor in this Diocese, in succession to one whom I have learnt to regard as one of God's saints.

The name of Charles Schofield will be ever honored in this Diocese, and indeed beyond it. His devoted and wise leadership for twenty years has been an inspiration and a strength to the church in British Columbia. He has left behind him a great memorial in this stately cathedral.

THE FUTURE

Though we have maintained, and I think, deepened the spiritual fellowship of the Diocese, yet much remains to be done before we can feel that we are offering a worthy or powerful Christian witness in the life of the West. The level of spiritual life of the parishes needs lifting, and the standard of Christian discipleship leaves much to be desired.

PERSONAL MESSAGE

In conclusion Bishop Sexton added a more personal message to the clergy and laity. In all respects it was his desire to share alike the joys, difficulties and sorrows of his clergy.

Says Lifting of Ban Is Economic Victory for Italy

Mussolini Tells Crowd Removal of Sanctions Is Surrender of Those Nations Who Would Deny Rome Victory—Enters New Commercial Agreement With Albania

ROME, July 15 (AP)—Premier Mussolini, addressing an enthusiastic crowd in the Plaza Venezia, said tonight: "The white flag has been hoisted today on sanctionist bastions." Lifting of sanctions against Italy, effective today by League of Nations order, "represents the surrender of those who would deny us victory," he declared.

Smiling and gay, Il Duce asserted the "economic victory" was due to the Italian people, who, he said, were ready for every sacrifice.

The crowd responded en masse: "No, to you!"

Premier Mussolini concluded by saying: "Justice and civilization triumphed in Africa and Europe."

CLOSER COLLABORATION

Amid a flag-waving ceremony to mark the end of sanctions, Mussolini moved into a period of intensive collaboration with an Adriatic neighbor he once treated coolly—King Zog of Albania.

Of the action of Albania and other nations which refrained from sanctions, Il Duce's Popolo d'Italia said: "Italian people will not forget this."

Taught by the Ethiopian War and its resultant sanctions the necessity of developing Albania's oil resources to the utmost, Italy has given King Zog five loans totaling about $30,000,000 gold francs.

GIVES OIL CONCESSION

The Albanian dictator has given Italy a big oil concession, various political promises and a better port at Durazzo for future use.

Between Durazzo and the Italian ports of Brindisi or Dari there are only a few hours of sailing—and that part of the Adriatic is an Italian sea. But to get oil safely from Albania there must be close co-operation by King Zog's Government. The loans were intended to insure that co-operation.

At the same time, commercial accords have been concluded for the exchange of more products and for the enlargement of the zone of operations of the Azienda Italiana Petroli Albania, or Italian-Albanian Petroleum Company, on condition the company construct a refinery in Albania sufficient for the needs of that country.

CO-OPERATION NECESSARY

A glance at the map shows the military necessity of Italo-Albanian co-operation. The heads of the Italian boot and Albania are only forty miles apart at the entrance of the Adriatic Sea. Control of Albania gives Italy control of the bottleneck of the Adriatic. On the other hand, control of Albania by any other large nation could become intolerable to Italy, a menace to her ports for the Near and Far East, to or Taranto, her principal southern naval base.

Mutual Auto Sales Accept Vancouver Island Agency for Popular Automobile

The Mutual Auto Sales with showrooms, and premises at 932 Johnson Street, have just been appointed Vancouver Island dealers for the Willys "77" car, it was announced last night by W. Greenhaigh, the proprietor. The new models of this popular little car have just arrived and are on display. The Mutual Auto Sales are fully equipped to offer the highest standard of service on the Willys "77." Founded in 1932, the company has, until recently, been devoted to the sales and service of second-hand cars. The acceptance of the Willys "77" agency follows a realization of the popular demand for a light car of Willys proportions.

AMERICAN CO-OPERATION

It was understood in New York that Pan-American Airways would co-operate with Imperial Airways in their joint project in service. The British subsidy would permit carriage of mails from Bermuda to the United States, while the United States Government is expected to provide a subsidy which would permit carriage of mails from that country to Bermuda.

FUGITIVE DIES IN OWN TRAP

Escaped Convict Starts Forest Fire to Cover Tracks—Is Burned to Death

SUDBURY, July 15 (P)—The body of a man, identified as Marshall Johnson, escaped convict from Burwash Industrial Farm, was recovered yesterday from the waters of Rock Lake, near Paget, a few miles south of the jail farm.

Sergeant Albert Knight, of the Sudbury detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, said he was informed from Burwash that the man's body was seared by burns. It was believed, said Sergeant Knight, that the man who escaped last Saturday had started a bush fire to cover up his escape, but had been caught in his own trap by the roaring flames and had drowned while seeking refuge in the water.

The body was sighted by Pilot Dick Overbury, of the Ontario Air Service, who was flying over the district in connection with bush fires that have been raging around Burwash, and a city magistrate learned the identity of "Alfonso de Boron, twenty-nine, a clerk."

A dozen or more women were lined up before Thomas A. Aurelio, traffic court judge.

"Alfonso de Boron," sang out the clerk.

John R. Bender, a demonstrator for the British automobile agency employing the defendant, answered for him.

"I don't like these men who don't answer warrants," complained the magistrate. "Generally they pay a bigger fine."

"He doesn't feel so good—heather and all," offered Bender.

"Who is this Alfonso?" demanded the judge.

Bender hesitated. "A prince," he said finally, "the son of the King of Spain."

"Oh," said the judge, and after a moment, "oh." He considered his judgment. "Well," was his verdict, gently passing over the fact that Spain had become a Republic, "if he's really sick, I'll let the fine stand at $2."

Bender deposited the fine and departed.

The count received a summons Saturday near Columbus Circle for not keeping to the right while driving.

NEW YORK, July 15 (P)—The one-time Prince of the Asturias and heir to the Spanish throne paid a $2 fine for a traffic violation yesterday, and a city magistrate learned the identity of "Alfonso de Boron, twenty-nine, a clerk."

POLITICAL LARGESSE

Premier Godbout of Quebec is promising the earth and the fullness thereof in the effort to secure the election of his party to power. There can never have been a platform so full of promises; there is largesse galore held out as bait to the electorate, and the people of Quebec will be credulous, indeed, if they believe that Mr. Godbout can perform what he proposes. Here is a partial list of the planks in his platform:

- Bonus of $10 an acre for clearing land.
- Bonus on butter and cheese for export.
- Bonus on raising pigs for export.

- Bonus on construction of modern piggeries.
- Bonus to assist sugar beet industry.

- An expenditure of $2,500,000 on drainage of lands.

- Government assistance for stockbreeders.

- Assistance to small rural industries.

- Government backing for co-operative warehouses for farmers.

- Creation of stations to supply farmers with lime for fertilization purposes.

- A new system of rural credits.

- A special programme of rural education.

- A minimum wage law for all workers.

- A family allowance to maintain widows and orphans.

- A new rural electricity policy.

- Relief works to replace state charity.

The above is just an instalment, for in addition there is to be a Provincial Commission to study Provincial Administration, and there is to be reform of the administration of the City of Montreal. Mr. Godbout says nothing of where the money is coming from to pay all the bonuses he proposes. What he has been chiefly concerned in doing is stealing all the planks in the platforms of his opponents. Evidently he believes that elections are won on promises. They used to be; the political outlook has, however, changed. People are not so credulous as in the past.

A CENTURY OF PATENTS

One hundred years ago this month the United States fixed a patent law and established its Patent Office. A similar department was inaugurated in Canada in 1869. There were laws regarding patents before those dates, that of Lower Canada in 1824 and of Upper Canada two years later. American Federal patent legislation began in 1790. All these acts of protection for the inventor reach back to the days of James I and rest upon the Statute of Monopolies in 1624, in which exemption was made of the "sole work or making of any manner of new manufactures within the realm to the true and first inventor and inventors of such manufactures."

In the classical saying of the Book of Ecclesiastes, "man has sought out many inventions," and has required many patents to cover them. During the past hundred years the total number of patents issued in the United States runs up into the millions; to be precise, 2,045,000, an average of more than 20,000 a year. This is a tribute to Yankee inventiveness. Canada's figures since 1869 total 358,865, an average of 5,341 a year. During the six years from 1929-34 the average reached 10,500 yearly. The peak during the last decade was in 1931, when 11,263 patents were issued. More than a thousand research laboratories in the United States and Canada, upon which are spent $150,000,000 annually, assure a continued stream of inventors' applications and a return flow of legal documents safeguarding their rights.

The establishment of a Patent Office at Washington in 1836, as a writer in The New York Times points out, could not have been made at a more propitious time. It was a period of rapid mechanical expansion. A new country was being opened up beyond the Alleghenies. Wheat for the whole world only awaited labor. "Labor—that was the problem for decades." The situation challenged the inventive mind of a live people. McCormick produced the reaper, Eli Whitney the cotton gin, Morse invented the telegraph, Howe patented the sewing machine, McKay devised a shoemaking machine. The Patent Office was busy as the country grew.

Devices more familiar to the modern man came in after the Civil War. The ancestor of the typewriter, on which this editorial is written, was patented by Sholes and Glidden. 1868. The Hot rotary or lightning press was used first in 1846, and forty years later came the linotype and monotype of Mergenthaler and Lanston. Such equipment makes possible the twenty-four-page issue of this journal. What could the modern man do without the telephone? This is the diamond jubilee of Alexander Graham Bell's first exhibit in 1876. An immense expansion of efficiency and comfort came from the wizard-like brain of Edison—phonograph, dynamo, electric light. How many of the two million inventions were duds, is not known. Only the effective are of interest, and they must be relatively few, but they register an immense advance in the material progress and comfort of mankind.

UP-TO-DATE POETRY

An ancient authority on the culinary art began a discourse upon hairy pie or something of the kind with the famous words, "First, catch your hare." To write poetry in any style or manner it is necessary to have something to write about. The materials of poetry, its themes, its substance, its subject-matter have usually consisted in whatever is beautiful or sublime in Nature, and in the aspirations and deeds of men. A very modern idea is to look for suitable topics for poetical treatment, not in the objective world, or in the dead past, or in the working present, but in the deep recesses of the subconscious life. In the domain of irresponsible dreams and dreaming. If this new theory is sound, the modern poet must begin his career by undergoing a severe course in psychoanalysis.

So much for the matter, the stuff of poetry. Now for the method, a method which is simplicity itself. To write poetry in this very modern manner you are not to strive, to agonize, to think hard. You are simply to become a passive instrument, to make a faithful record of what automatically emerges into consciousness from the depths of your sub-conscious mind. Such is the doctrine and such also is the practice of the school of Surrealism, so-called. If you want to be like a mad dog; third, to do something noble; fourth, to get wealthy; fifth, to make ends meet; and sixth, to get the old-age pension. N.A.C.M.

From a War Album

Canadian soldiers one of their best laughs of the Great War in a quiet section of the line, where opposing forces straddled an old German system of communicating trenches that ran everywhere like paths in a rabbit warren. Teatime was announced by the customary four shells at the village crossroads. The men were tucked up in their foxholes, some of them with their heads above ground, others with their heads buried in the earth. The men who had been buried were brought out by a boy blundered out of the rabbit warren into the Canadian line staggering under a double load of steaming hot potatoes. His eyes shot up to the rim of his round field cap as he saw British uniforms. He had taken the turn after making the visitor stand against a mishap. The Canadian added vegetables to their evening meal, and split a pannikin of tea with their prisoner. S.G.

To the plain man, this kind of thing sounds like the ravings of a man in a fever. To the surrealists it is an exercise in self-expression. He is freeing some force which exists in the sub-conscious. He thinks that he is bringing a repressed desire to the level of consciousness!

AUTHORS' CONVENTION

It is something in the nature of a red letter day for Victoria that the delegates to the National Convention of the Canadian Authors' Association should be gathering here. There are many prominent characters in the assemblage, including St. Charles G. D. Roberts, the dozen of Canadian poets. Their visit to Victoria during the course of their convention in Vancouver will be the occasion of much entertainment. The fact that so many prominent literary figures will be included in the personnel of those who will come to Victoria will be of particular interest here where there is so much preoccupation in literary pursuits.

The visiting authors are heartily welcome. They include many of the brightest intelligences in the Dominion, and for that reason their presence here will be appreciated. Victoria has been an active factor in the life of the Authors' Association of the Dominion and it is but fitting that the most prominent figures in that organization should be guests here during their convention on the Coast. Victoria is honored by their presence.

Helligoland was permanently demilitarized under the Treaty of Versailles. Now it is being fortified again. This is one of the many happenings that explain why Germany has given no answer to the British note asking for a statement of her intentions in regard to military defence and certain other matters. Germany proceeds upon her ordered way in defiance of international pacts.

Some we know could tell an interesting tale of a newshawk who covered a wire hairnet tener the hair off his head. The serbie was dissatisfied with difficulty from keeping the dog by a brother toller who, in turn, was followed by it. Before the disaduader shook the dog he had to carefully place it in five different gardens and shut the gates. . . . Now and then some member of the female species objects to being called a woman. Why not? A woman is an adult female person. A lady who looks after the domestic affairs of a family, or a woman of gentle manners, sentiments, etc. In legal matters and at wedding ceremonies, the term lady is never used. A man does not object to being called a man, why should a female want to be called a lady?

A fisherman of Albert Head reports seeing a local yacht executing a series of weird manoeuvres. The vessel would make for a log or some floating debris at full speed, slow down abruptly when quite close, and then gradually ride up to the floating matter. The strange tactic was reported for about half an hour before the victimized tail and made for Victoria with her engine roaring like a plane. Our tobacconist friend knows about vessel's actions, but he won't talk.

Talking to a convalescent on Douglas Street recently, we noticed he was leaning an unusual carriage of two horses heads running in opposite directions. The wooden part was made from rosewood over 100 years old.—G.B.

Gentle Reminders

The West is continually credited with being years behind the East, so it is with great pleasure we take exception to this age-old idea! In Toronto and the larger cities of the Eastern provinces we read about law enforcement authorities arresting male bathers for appearing on public beaches clad only in swimming trunks, as well as classifying swimming trunks, as proper beach attire for men, was disposed of three or four years ago in Victoria, Vancouver and other centres in B.C. where exception might be taken to their appearance on the beaches. It's about time the East dropped its "blue law" about bathing costumes and followed the example of the rest of Canada. While we are dealing with law enforcement, it might not be amiss to suggest that one or two of the Parliament Buildings' gardeners make a call on the front yard of the B.C. Police offices and touch up the lawn and flower gardens a little. Police offices are always a good place for a walk, and the police would appreciate the attention.

One of the unforeseen results of artificially-arranged prices is falling on provincial relief agencies faced with the problem of fewer persons on relief, but increasing costs for their upkeep.

CONTROL OVER EXPORTS ENDS

Provincial Marketing Regulations Tighten Up on Domestic Sales

British Columbia has abandoned efforts to control export shipments in agricultural products by legislation, and will depend for the present on the "voluntary co-operation" of producers and shippers, Hon. K. C. MacDonald intimated yesterday.

In domestic sales, price-fixing under Clause 5 of amendments to the B.C. Natural Products Marketing Act, is being invoked in the new Vegetable Board, which is already making its debut. The board, which is set up to produce, distributor and others; while the tomato-marketing scheme, now being redrafted, will carry the Minister's name.

UPHOLD POLICY

No effort will be made to legislate on export shipments, until after a decision has been reached in the British Columbia appeal of Federal Court rulings to the Privy Council in London. Meanwhile, the Province will go as far as it may under provincial law to uphold the whole policy of controlled marketing, the Minister said.

Potato seizures were reported from the Mainland this week, in renewal of efforts by the Coast vegetable group to curb what is described as "excessive" production. The increase came from a market shortage through drought in the United States and elsewhere.

Mr. F. J. Stanton (Contributed)

The sudden death of Mr. F. J. Stanton in Vancouver on July 11, has come as a shock to all persons who knew him. The writer of this article, who has been a member of the Houdini for the past twelve years, had left for his holiday little more than a week earlier, and was even then considering plans for the next school year, for Mr. Stanton, in spite of his age, never stopped working. He had left to keep alive the religious teaching of the school.

All those boys who passed through the matriculation form under him, know that they owed him for their success, as he was a most able and painstaking teacher of both English and modern languages. Any boy who went to him for advice was always sure of a sympathetic hearing, and he gave ungrudgingly of his spare time to those who asked for extra tuition. He did much to keep alive the religious teaching of the school.

It is not alone for his ability as a teacher that Mr. Stanton will be remembered, but also for his cheerful optimism and good humor outside the classroom. He was always glad to joke with a boy, however small, and was ready with a quip or punning rejoinder, while he had the rare quality of being able to laugh at a joke against himself.

Mr. Stanton was a regular spectator at all school matches, and took an interest in every branch of the school's many activities. His passing leaves a blank in the life of the school which it will be hard to fill, and brings a realization of the unsophisticated and perhaps not always quite fully recognized and appreciated work which Mr. Stanton did.

Oak Bay Theatre Is Opened With Latest Classic Production

Capacity Audience Attends First Night of New Picture House—Reeve Taylor Congratulates Company on Enterprise in Short Address

GREAT Victoria's newest theatre, the Oak Bay, located in residential Oak Bay, was formally opened by R. R. Taylor, Reeve of the municipality, last night, and with the first of a four-day showing of Max Reinhardt's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," with an all-star cast. The play is being run here under the auspices of the Junior Women's Auxiliary of the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Opening ceremonies were brief, and included an address by the Reeve, introduced by Major Ray F. Castle, head of the R. F. Castle Company, owners and operators of the theatre. The audience complimented Mr. Castle for his ambition and enterprise in providing a place of high-class entertainment for the people of the municipality.

CAPACITY AUDIENCE

The theatre was filled to capacity, and the audience included a number of the prominent citizens of Oak Bay, officials, and smartly dressed women who provided the "first-night" atmosphere. In the lobby were baskets of flowers, tokens of good wishes from friends of the management. Outside, giant Klieg lights illuminated the exterior and were effective in outlining the gabled design that is somewhat different to the average theatre "front."

The management, in its selection of Shakespeare's classic, undertook a heavy responsibility in showing Warner Bros' latest experiment, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," with new equipment, but the showing proved a success in every way. The wide range, high fidelity sound equipment gave a faithful reproduction of the masterpiece of classical plays. The pleasure of the audience was obvious by the applause at the conclusion of the first half of the programme, and Mr. Castle was generously complimented during the intermission. The production is an experiment, a million and a half dollar experiment, and after eight months as a road show, so that the audience could get the reaction of the public to the type of picture. Whether they will make another one depends upon the reception given during the twelve-month showing.

The production is from a classic of literature and it has been labeled the classic of moving pictures. Because of the opportunities it offered for spectacular presentation it was produced on many occasions throughout the centuries by some of the famous Shakespearean actors. The adaptation of the play to the screen was a tremendous task, but it gave full scope to the imaginative genius of Mr. Reinhardt and the result was remarkable.

The story of the play is probably as well known as any of Shakespeare's and was given with true characterization. The features of the programme were the two ballets, the first interpretation the Scherzo in a striking spectacle showing the forest awakening and the fairy world at play, and Titania, its queen, dancing down a moonbeam to join the faeries. This ballet was the work of genius, and the beauty and enchantment has never been equalled on the screen. The second was the "Nocturnal," which told the story of the creatures of the wood, happy only in the moonlight. Both ballets strike a new note of culture and refinement, and bring an entirely new theme to the world of motion pictures.

MUSICAL CONCERT

The music which accompanies the production is not a musical setting, it is pointed out, but almost a complete "all-Mendelssohn concert," and such it proved to be. It included the famous "Adventure" which, by the way, was depicted in the picture. The vocal chorus was superb.

The Oak Bay Theatre is a picture of comfort, with special features that provide ease and quietness. One of the newer features is the provision for the hard of hearing, and the tiny microphones carry the sound of the picture to those who, otherwise, would be deprived of the enjoyment of sound pictures.

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be shown tonight, tomorrow and Saturday, with matinees.

Tax Collector's Figures Tells About Various Holdings Of Film Stars

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 15 (AP)—A man, not a woman, lists the most valuable jewels among Hollywood's stars.

Harold Lloyd is the man.

Norma Shearer admits first place with jewels among actresses.

Charles Chaplin is the wealthiest star. Mary Pickford is the wealthiest actress.

Joan Crawford ranks next to Norma Shearer with jewels.

Both Tom Mix and Joe E. Brown have more jewelry than Diamond Lil Mae West.

These are some of the facts written into the year's records of the county tax collector.

LARGEST REALTY HOLDER

The comedian with the horn-rimmed glasses, Lloyd, also ranks as the greatest realty holder in the country among movie stars, as far as having the most valuable furniture. His furniture assessment is $75,000, that being merely part of its value.

Jewelry assessments on the tax list include Harold Lloyd $30,000, Norma Shearer $11,800, Joan Crawford $10,000, Tom Mix $7,500, Joe E. Brown $5,000, Constance Bennett $3,500, Mae West $3,500.

John Barrymore makes a comeback on the assessment rolls. Last year he was down to his last yacht with a total taxable valuation of $56,565, of which $56,350 was his sail boat, Infanta. This year his total is $86,460, embracing real estate and personal property in addition to his yacht.

Retains Her Figure

Mae West retains her figure the same as last year, $4,600, of which $3,500 is jewels.

Constance Bennett is down for $10,000 furniture in her total assessment of $60,150.

Other assessment figures are:

Charles Chaplin $628,400. Harold Lloyd $404,725. Mary Pickford $235,880. Richard Barthelmess $110,230.

Douglas Fairbanks $108,910. Joe E. Brown $59,331. Tom Mix $87,170. Gloria Swanson $33,860. Norma Shearer $28,860. Ruth Chatterton $27,355. Ann Harding $29,420, and Joan Crawford $32,770.

DECLINES HIGH SHRINER HONOR

Hugh M. Caldwell Steps Aside After Being Elected Imperial Potentate

SEATTLE, July 15 (AP)—Deputy Imperial Potentate Hugh M. Caldwell, Seattle, elected imperial potentate of the ancient Arabic Order of the Mystic Shrine, declined the honor at the Imperial council session today and Imperial Chief Rabban Clyde I. Webb of Detroit, was elevated to the position.

Caldwell, who had disclosed his intention before entering the close session of the council, gave "business interests" as the reason for his withdrawal.

The election was announced by Joseph A. Swallow of Seattle, general chairman of the council's business sessions, as the session concluded behind closed doors to choose the next convention city, with Detroit favored because of the unwritten custom of giving it to the home city of the new imperial potentate.

Caldwell, a member of Nile Temple, Seattle, has "spent" ten years working up to the three-hundred-and-twenty-third honor, through the ten successive offices on the imperial dyan.

IN CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE

The new imperial potentate is judge of the Wayne County Circuit Court, Detroit.

The elevation of Judge Webster to imperial potentate "moved up" the entire panel of offices on the imperial dyan, Swallow explained.

Usually only the lowest office, that of imperial order guard, was filled annually, and through ten annual "promotions" that officer reaches the highest one.

Through the resignation of Caldwell, a resignation which has never occurred before at the top of the dyan's order of succession, the ninth lowest office, that of captain of the guard, also became vacated.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

VANISHING POINTS

When I watch a better-than-average contract game I am enormously impressed (and saddened) by the fantastic number of points "chucked" by both sides. Admittedly, 100 per cent perfect bridge is not possible to meet humans. Guesses and hairsplitting decisions cannot always go right, regardless of how expert the player. It is my considered opinion that the world's greatest players throw away, on an average, 3,000 points per every 10,000 of four hours' play. "Why?" I mean the difference between the score they actually make and the score they would have made if they were able to see all four hands before bidding or playing—their theoretical part, so to speak.

But when it comes to estimating the difference between theoretical and the results obtained by average players the figures become almost astronomical! I cheerfully expect most of my readers to scoff when I say that I have seen scores of games in which 15,000 points were thrown out of the window by one team against the other! Today's hand is a mild example of how points vanish into thin air.

The bidding—

Pass—Pass

North's two-spade bid was well chosen to take advantage of the part-score, and at the same time to act as a mild shut-out. East was tempted to bid three diamonds, but had visions of a large penalty in case he found partner with a "bust," and discreetly decided to pass.

West selected what turned out to be an excellent opening: the diamond ten. Dummy played low. East signalled a "come-on" with the seven, and declarer won with the ace. Now,

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

AGED MEN HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

Sixteenth Outing Enjoyed at Victoria-Goldstream Park Yesterday

Thoroughly enjoying the brilliant sunshine, thirty inmates of the Aged and Infirm Men's Home attended the sixteenth annual picnic at Victoria-Goldstream Park yesterday afternoon. The outing was organized by W. H. Davies.

Voluntary automobile transportation carried the picnickers from the home at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and returned them at 6:30 in the evening.

During the day, the men enjoyed a varied programme of sports and games, and local artists contributed to an interesting and lively musical programme following the sports. Quoits, horseshoe pitching and a walking race, for prizes, were the objects of attention for most of the picnickers on the sports programme. Frank Macfieldy, the Cornish Wizard; Stanley James, Leonard Foster and Frank Laverty provided the entertainment.

MAYOR SPEAKS

Mayor Fred Lonsdale, accompanied by Alderman T. W. Hawkins and Alderman James Adam, attended during the afternoon and spoke a few words to the gathering. His Worship expressed the hope that everyone had enjoyed the outing, and thanked those responsible for the treat to the aged men and those who donated refreshments.

Alderman Adam, in a short address, paid tribute to the work of the late Fred Lonsdale, and Mr. Davies for carrying on. Thanks to the City Council, those responsible for the picnic, the entertainers and the men who had assisted with the refreshments were also expressed by the aldermen.

PROVIDE TRANSPORTATION

Transportation to and from the picnic ground was provided by the following: Mrs. Angus Campbell, D. D. McTavish, J. Anderson, Clem A. Gill, F. Wood, Al Davies, R. M. Angus, El Bean, Commander C. H. R. Slingsby, C. J. McDowell, J. A. Bennell, Jack Harkness, Percy Fitzsimmons and I. M. Noden.

Donations were received from the following: Joe North, the Floral Art Shop, David Spencer, Ltd., A. P. Stade (Victoria), Ltd., B. C. CHAPTER VII

The warm tub and the cold shower that followed it awakened Blackwood sufficiently to excite his interest in the paper. As he ate his breakfast, beside a favorite window, watching the Sunday crowd stream past, his eyes reverted to the headlines. They were sensational enough.

PERCY JONES VANISHES IN MURDER MYSTERY!

Thus the banner, starkly, and again he felt the fascination of the problem stir within him. Had the beegar really died?

Halfway down the first column of type a paragraph had been ringing by a thick black pencil, and his own name looked out at him with a tear.
In the margin, in the precise handwriting of Miss Julie Blackwood, aged seventeen, he read his aunt's crisp comment on the situation. "So this is what kept you!"

He had no doubt whatever that the aged old person already had a theory.

After a time he reached for the telephone extension, on a neighboring stand, and call the home of "Lulu" Fentress.

"Not a word," said the lawyer.
"You've seen the papers. I suppose?
The police were looking for him all night. I hate to think he's really run away, although it looks like it.
What did you discover at the Wellison?"

Blackwood told him

"I was afraid I'd draw a blank . . .
and the law . . . The redhead had made my key pass to the puzzle, as you suspect, but alred-y been an idiot to leave a record of her residence. He may still come to me, of course. Call me at the office, in the morning, if you like.
But if I were you I'd leave him to the police. They'll find him before you will; and if he's innocent there'll be no harm done."

"That's not the way I work," said Riley Blackwood, "Tell my beloved aunt that I shall be over for tea," he ordered, and went forth again upon the trail of the missing announcer.

The rooms of Percy Jones were in North Dearborn Street, not far order, he realized . . . to the point where the redhead had first brought her to the house with the porcelain doorknob, where the kitten had been acquired, the Weldon, where he had already drawn a blank; and the taxi cab that had driven the fugitive southward. A swell bunch of clues —not! He would have to wait till evening for the studio staff; and as for the street of the blue kitten, it might be any one of a dozen. All of them old-fashioned and bristling with porcelain doorknobs.

The shadow of a gray crossed the detective's face. "How did you finish? Getting in if nobody was here?" he asked.

Mr. Blackwood had the grace to blush. He accompanied the brief confusion with a little shrug. "Now that I'm here," he suggested, "you wouldn't send me away!"

"Wouldn't I?" said the detective chieftain. "Not without knowing what your business is, at any rate." He swung the door and jerked his head significantly. "Come inside, Mr. Blackwood!" He closed the door and finished his remark—
"Tell me what the devil you want to day."

"Tidings," said Mr. Blackwood.
"My overwhelming curiosity! What have you discovered, Dallas? Is there any clue to Percy?" He smiled.
"If I were to offer you a cigar, I suppose it would be considered polite?"

The detective accepted the cigar.
"You've got all the nerve allowed of me," he commented, in grudging tribute. "What did you expect to find here—after you had broken in?"

"I don't know," said Blackwood.
"Nor Percy, anyway!" He glanced around him. "You haven't found him, I suppose? Frankly, Dallas.
I'm interested in his alibi." The whole case hangs upon it."

"What alibi?" asked Dallas.
The girl, the kitten and the Himalayan heard the story he told us last night. We told you all about it."

The detective snorted. "That's not an alibi," he said. "It's a fairy tale."

"Possibly," said Blackwood.
"but the case against him still stands as it is."

I don't believe a word of it," said
Dallas.

"I know," said Blackwood. "You believe he killed the Wingfield woman and told that story to account for his time—a crazy sort of alibi that couldn't be proved or disproved. You believe the matches are his monogram are enough to convict him. You believe the police thinking—the line of least resistance. Anybody might have had a paper of his matches; the woman herself might have had them in possession.

The detective shrugged. "Write an essay about it," he suggested.
He leaned forward and tapped the amateur on the shoulder. "If I can't find anything here to show that your friend Percy and this Wingfield woman were sweethearts—or anything like that—I've got ace-ward to forget it!"

"So that's what you're looking for—lettering letters!"

From other rooms in the apartment sounded the activities of assisting investigators. Drawers were open, and the room was noisy, and there was a low murmur of voices. Blackwood's smile was aggravating.

"There's a maid in here every morning," said Dallas, with heavy pianissimo.

"Except Sundays," said Blackwood
in the same tone.

station. "Help yourself," he said with a sardonic grin. "If you can find anything to prove that fairy tale, I'll give you a job at the bureau!"

Riley Blackwood turned a questioning eye upon his surroundings.
There was no point in further discussion. He was in the apartment.
It was a room to itself, with no access to the rest—and it was possible to escape without betraying anything he might discover to support them.

The head of the detective bureau
relighted his cigar, which had gone out, and settled himself in comfort to enjoy the spectacle. He smiled with saturnine enjoyment. It was faintly embarrassing.

But Blackwood did his best to entertain. He pretended to look for something on the chairs and sofas, and actually picked one from the floor. It was thin and small and brave.

"There's a maid in here every

"puzzle" which comes to us "from the Latin through the French 'opperer,' meaning to resist."

Originally the word was to be combat by physical means, significance which was eventually broadened to include fighting back by means of an argument, interrogation or putting a problem designed to test the ingenuity—to nonplus, perhaps to embarrass, certainly to perplex.

They proceeded promptly to identify themselves, the first to the second, who turned to the third saying, "He says he's a lord." Whereupon the third responded, "He's not a lord; he's a peasant."

It is said that when this incident was recounted to the elders, they at once dropped their affairs of state and went off, endeavoring to figure out how many of this group of lords there were and how many were peasants.

This is a legend, but if it is true, if do it, it is not, however, the object of this stickful, which is concerned simply with how things of this sort started to be called "puzzles"— which to many may seem another power, but to us all is in the day's work.

REALISTIC STORY ON PLAZA SCREEN

Bette Davis and Franchot Tone Play Leading Roles in Drama Entitled "Dangerous"

Realism finally has its imprint on the motion picture screen. Critical audiences have groaned at stars who wake up in the morning looking immaculate and as well groomed as if they had just walked out of a beauty parlor. All this is remedied in the Warner Bros. picture, "Dangerous," which comes to the Plaza Theatre today.

In one scene, Bette Davis wakes up in Franchot Tone's country home after drinking heavily the night before in a cheap barroom. A stickler for accuracy, she said to Director Alfred E. Green:

"I'm going to look just like that girl would have looked."

It took a conference with Per Westmore, head of the makeup department, and a session with her hairdresser, Della Carlson, to reach her objective.

Cosmetics were applied thickly to give a sallow look to her face. Dark circles were painted under her eyes. The only arrangement to her hair was an artful disarrangement. It swirled around her head as if it really had been slept on through the night.

Robert Allen, who with Florence Rice, head the cast of the Columbia mystery-thriller, "Guard That Girl," the second feature, was playing an unidentified role in Frank Capra's "Broadway Bill" not quite a year ago. Since then he has become one of the screen's most outstanding juveniles, what with his playing the lead opposite Grace

On the Screen

Atlas—Gregory Ratoff in "Forbidden Territory."

Capitol—"The King Steps Out," starring Grace Moore.

Dominion—"The Big Noise," starring Guy Kibbee.

Oak Bay Theatre—Dick Powell in "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Plaza—"Dangerous," starring Bette Davis.

Moore in "Love Me Forever" and his performance in "The Black Room," "Party Wire," and several others.

CAPITOL Pleased audiences are reported the order of the day at the Capitol Theatre, where Grace Moore is singing her way through her third Columbia picture, "The King Steps Out." The tinkling tones of Miss Moore's voice, coupled with a romantic and humorous story, should be sufficient to promise an engaging evening at the movies.

Dominion "The Walking Dead," a Warner Bros. picture, said to be the most unusual mystery thriller ever screened, is now showing at the Dominion Theatre. Boris Karloff has the stellar role, while the brilliant cast includes Ricardo Cortez, Edmund Gwenn, Margaretta Churchill, Warren Hull, Barton MacLane and Henry O'Neill. The picture has as its central theme the bringing back to life of a man who has been electrocuted for murder, but whose innocence of the crime is proved immediately after his execution.

There is a fast interplay of popular incident, breath-taking authentic exteriors, and a chase by sleigh.

It is an outstanding attraction for any type of audience.

Set against such varied backgrounds as those provided by the Soviet landscape, a cabaret scene with a balalaika accompaniment and a Siberian prison, this wholly interesting picture offers a feast of entertainment for all classes.

Gregory Ratoff, pre-eminent among character actors, contributes a brilliant performance as a bureaucratic and oftentimes cunning Soviet official. Among a cast, each of whom bids fair to usurp his predominance, his characterization stands out as one of the film's strongest features.

"Heart's Desire," the second feature, Richard Tauber's enthralling voice has never been heard to better advantage. The Bierstadt set, where "Steidi" is an Austrian singer with great local popularity (Richard Tauber) holds everyone entranced by his marvelous rendering of "Vienna, City of Dreams" is most effective.

Presenting beautiful Dorothy Page of the golden voice and Edmund Lowe, who always gives an outstanding performance, Universal's fast-moving comedy drama with music, "King Solomon of Broadway," opens today at the Columbia Theatre.

Strong support was given these new pictures by Richard Palance, remembered as the "public enemy" of "G-Man"; attractive Louise Henry, excellently cast as a society beauty, and Charles Grapewin as her father, who though aged and rheumatic, refused to give up his fun.

While having to do with Broadway night life, "King Solomon of Broadway" does not lose itself in musical efforts. A shooting, a fight, a kidnapping and other dramatic events add to the natural "punch" of the vehicle.

"The Forbidden Territory," opening today at the Atlas Theatre, keeps one on the alert throughout. Adventure follows adventure in swift succession building up to a big sensational climax.

This thrilling action drama of adventures in the Soviet sounds in swift-moving development, and deals with the rescue of a young Englishman from the clutches of a bureaucratic commissar.

HEAVY SEAS POUND SHIP

Norwegian Freighter Held Fast and Is Filling With Water

LOCKPORT, N.S., July 15 (P)—With a heavy sea still running, but with prospects of the weather moderating, the powerful tug Foundation Franklin today moved in closer toward the stricken Norwegian freighter Fjord, held fast in the rocky grip of Ram Island.

The 2,155-ton vessel, which went aground in a fog Sunday night is filling with water, and pounding seas have swayed her fifty feet from her original position.

Today there are ten feet of water in her hold. Only a skeleton crew remained aboard. The remainder of the crew camped in tents on Ram Island.

Captain Abrahamsen took his wife and child to Little Harbor, where they remained for the night.

Captain R. Featherstone, of the Foundation Franklin, directing salvage operations, explained the freighter was encircled by reefs and he moved his powerful craft gingerly, nosing closer.

Carefully interspersed will be solos given by Mrs. Jack Barragough, Harry Hay, Miss Joy Groves and Jack Fitless. The accompanists for the soloists will be Mrs. Harold Groves and Jack Barragough. The captain will again navigate the Show Boat, which always sails on time at 8 o'clock.

Patrons of Victoria's Show Boat will be entertained this evening by the well-known string ensemble conducted by George Dyke. Only on very rare occasions is the public given the opportunity of enjoying a program such as will be offered.

Among the numbers to be given are the following: Theme song by Purcell; "Processional March," C. A. Woodhouse; "Springtime Overture," C. A. Woodhouse; "Dream After the Play," Cabulette; "Moulin Rouge," Schubert; "Foot-Music," MacBeth; "Pizzicato," Gavotte; Latann; "Fireworks Suite," Handel; "Sailor's Chorus," Wagner; march from "Carmen," Bizet. This careful selection of numbers which Mr. Dyke has chosen for his program will guarantee the maximum of enjoyment for those who attend the performance.

A young artist who is winning recognition in the South as a singer of unusual promise is to be heard on the programme. She is Anne Rockingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rockingham, of Millstream. Miss Rockingham went South about two years ago and has attracted some notice already in the studios and elsewhere with her beautiful contralto voice, which has definitely won her a niche in the Estelle Brown Mills of Los Angeles. The young singer is here for a Summer holiday and her numerous friends will welcome her opportunity to hear her.

Carefully interspersed will be solos given by Mrs. Jack Barragough, Harry Hay, Miss Joy Groves and Jack Fitless. The accompanists for the soloists will be Mrs. Harold Groves and Jack Barragough. The captain will again navigate the Show Boat, which always sails on time at 8 o'clock.

LIFE

Life is no failure in which earthly love

Is grown and ripened for the world above.

For this coming week-end, the Vancouver Island Coach Lines is featuring a large and varied list of low-fare excursions to Island resorts.

On Saturday next, another popular excursion to Vancouver is being offered. Passengers will leave the Broughton Street Depot at 7:45 in the morning and return by bus, ferry and interurban train to Vancouver, arriving at the Davie Street Terminal in the heart of the city at 1 p.m. The interurban train passes right by the gates of Brigadoon Park, where a week's racing is being concluded. On the return journey, the train leaves Vancouver at 6 p.m. and Brigadoon at 6:15 p.m., the passengers arriving back in Victoria at 11 p.m.

An international flavor will be introduced into the excursion fare on Saturday by a land and sea trip to Friday Harbor. Coaches leave the depot at 9 a.m. for this fascinating port in the American Gulf Islands. MAPLE BAY TRIP

On Sunday next, the first excursion of the year will be run to Maple Bay. This is one of the most beautiful spots on the Island, and the excellent spots here provide warm seawater bathing. On that day also a mystery trip, which offers a long and interesting drive through glorious scenery to an unknown destination, will be featured. While the name of the resort that will be visited is not divulged, there will be bathing, boating, picnicking and a good hotel there for those who do not wish to bring their lunches.

Other excursions on Sunday include such points as Shawnigan Lake, Sooke

Strong Contingent of J.B.A.A. and Brentwood Crews Will Compete for N.P.A.A.O. and Pacific Coast Honors at Coal Harbor—Three-Day Meet Will Wind-Up on Saturday

VANCOUVER, July 15 (P)—Long sleek shells, representing every major rowing club in the Pacific Northwest, rippled the smooth waters of Vancouver's Coal Harbor today as visiting oarsmen swept through their final workouts over the course where tomorrow they begin a three-day onslaught on North Pacific and Pacific Coast championships.

Crews from San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Victoria, Brentwood and Kelowna will take to their flimsy craft during the three-day meet. North Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen titles will be decided during the first two days, starting tomorrow, and the regatta will be climaxed on Saturday with Pacific Coast titles, the first for several years.

TITLES DIVIDED

Vancouver at present holds the singles, doubles and fours crowns for the Pacific Coast, while the N.P.A.A.O. titles are divided between Victoria and Vancouver.

Victoria scullers, forty of them, entered in almost every event, were intent tonight on making a big onslaught on crews which they don't

GEHRIG LOSES MANY POINTS

Only One Ahead of Radcliffe in Bat Race—Waner Heads National

By The Associated Press
The National League trio in baseball's batting "Big Six" underwent another major upheaval yesterday, with Paul Waner of the Pirates emerging on top, while Yankee Lou Gehrig's lead was cut to one point. The League, secure for weeks, was endangered as he lost considerable ground. Waner got four hits in six times at bat to boost his mark to .361. Ducky Medwick of the Bees, getting three times up, moved from fourth to third. Gehrig went hitless in six trips to the plate to lose seven percentage points and drop to .377, while Rip Radcliffe of the White Sox remained at .376.

Colonel J. N. McCrae and His Wife Entertained by Local Fanciers

Making a good will tour across Canada, Colonel J. N. McCrae, Galt, Ont., president of the Canadian Kennel Club, and his wife, were the dinner guests of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association, yesterday evening at the Douglas Hotel.

J. W. Bladen, president of the local association, spoke briefly before asking W. H. Pym, Vancouver, and second vice-president of the C.K.C. to introduce Colonel McCrae.

The Mainlander lauded the president for his fine work, and concluded by telling his audience that Colonel McCrae is the best president the Canadian Kennel Club or any other sporting organization has ever had.

As the genial president rose to his feet to reply to the Vancouver speaker he was accorded quite an ovation. He extended his thanks for the many kindnesses shown to him and his wife by the members of the local association and told how

VICTORIANS DOING WELL IN TOURNAMENT

Local Lawn Bowlers Head Sections as Play Continues on Mainland

VANCOUVER, July 15 (P)—Vancover bowlers dealt a serious blow to outside contestants in the Week-End Open Tournament sponsored by the British Columbia Lawn Bowling Association's annual tournament today, and tonight only six outsiders had survived to head their sections as play was completed.

Of the twenty-two sections, local clubs held the top spots in sixteen of them and were ready to march into the knockout series to decide possession of the silverware tomorrow.

Two Victoria clubs and one from Nanaimo headed three of the six sections held by outsiders tonight. Scott, Atroke, Tobin, No. 3; Munkley, No. 2, and Parker, at bow, meets a double Vancouver threat in that event.

A junior quarter-mile dash, novice fours and practice singles will wind up tomorrow's programme.

VICTORIANS WELL UP

Morton and McNeil, of Victoria, headed Section 3 by a margin of only nine shots after losing two and winning three games.

The other Victorians, Mossey and Marconini, headed Section 6. Having lost once and won four times they were a full game ahead of their nearest competitors with nine wins.

The lone Nanaimo entry to come through, Good and Scott, topped Section 17 after a close race with Henricks and Hold of Vancouver. Each had won four games and lost one, but the Islanders finished twenty-three shots up as compared with their nearest opponents' thirteen.

A total of eight visiting rinks grabbed off runner-up positions. Of these, two were from Cumberland, one from Victoria, one from Nanaimo, one from Merritt, and two from Oakbank, Calif.

The only outsider, Brooks, of Okland, Calif., remained in the novice singles competition for the Beck Trophy as play went into the third round.

The only island entry, Frater, of Nanaimo, was knocked out in the second-round play today by N. Stone, of Vancouver, 18-16.

much they were appreciated.

Mrs. McCrae, an able speaker, also spoke briefly.

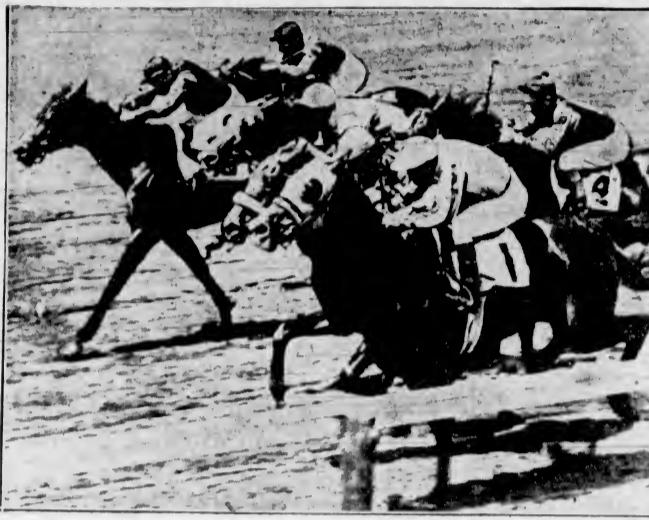

Dancing followed the dinner.

This evening at the Y.M.C.A. Colonel McCrae will address the members of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association on many important matters dealing with the Canadian Kennel Club. The meeting will open at 8 o'clock and a cordial invitation to attend is extended to all dog lovers, whether members of the association or not.

Tightly Bunched Field at the Turn

Here's what they mean when track addicts say the field was tightly bunched going to the first turn. The bangals at Aqueduct, N.Y., are starting in a compact group as they thunder away for the first quarter pole. Pass Em By, second from the rail, lived up to his name by leaving the rest behind. Jockey Rennick was the winning pilot.

The last Canadian to win the King's Prize was Lieut.-Col. R. M. Blair, of the Seaforth Highlanders, who took the trophy across the Atlantic in 1929. Canadian marksmen have won it six times in all since the event was begun under the name of the Queen's Prize in 1860.

Guardsman Fraser, of the Governor-General's Footguards, scored 103, only two under perfect figures, over distances of 200, 500 and 600 yards. The qualifying stage calls for seven shots at each of those distances.

TRIO OF GOOD BOUTS CARDED AT LOCAL GYM

Leo Anderson, Washburn, Kitzmiller and Newman Booked for Saturday

The three-score bouts staged to choose Canada's boxing delegates to the Berlin games. The highly-touted Osborne cut and bleeding, gave him little chance to weave in and out of his powerful attacks against the St. Catharines youth.

For Osborne, it was the same fate he met last year in the Dominion championship when he lost in the finals to Tommy Osborne of Montreal.

The Ontario fighter succeeded to the title vacated by Murray "Muzz" Patrick, of Victoria, unable to compete because of a recent nose operation.

The crouching, hard-slugging boy who came here seeking a place on the Canadian Olympic boxing team, staged the greatest surprise of the three-night Olympic tourney.

He left Osborne with a bashed face and brought the crowd of more than 6,000 fans to their feet in a sound roar of approval as he smashed his way to victory.

SCOTT KAYO

It was Osborne's second fight of the night. He gained the final by knocking out Tommy Burns, Montreal football star. But in Burn, Osborne came up against a fresh fighter, the St. Catharines lad having drawn a bye into the final round.

The fight was the most punishing of the three-score bouts staged to choose Canada's boxing delegates to the Berlin games. The highly-touted Osborne cut and bleeding, gave him little chance to weave in and out of his powerful attacks against the St. Catharines youth.

Three other new champions were established while three more retained their titles. Gaston Eichel, of Regina, whose only two defeats have been suffered in Montreal, was the only man to be born of his title. He lost his light-heavy crown to Oliver Shanks, of Edmonton.

Mickey Hennessy, of Montreal, gained the heavyweight championship for young Vic Bagnato, of Toronto. Herby Ladd, of Ottawa, took the bantamweight title.

Fred Farren, of St. John, N.B., and Babe McLeod, of Montreal, lightweight, won in the final bout over Church Bauer, of Hamilton.

WINS WELTER CROWN

Macario Camyre, Winnipeg's left-handed welterweight king, remained in the ring with victory over Gordon Schmalz, of Kitchener, Ont. Irving Pease, of Toronto, retained his middleweight title by turning back the bid of his fellow townsmen Bill Hurdman, and Bill Marquet, of Winnipeg, will rule the featherweight ranks for another year after turning back Ted St. Julian, of Regina.

With three good bouts on the card, tennis fans are promised plenty of excitement and good wrestling. The remainder of the programme will be completed today with the signing of opponents for Kitzmiller and Newman.

The first match will commence at 8:45 o'clock.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs retained their grip on the National League leadership again today by shutting out the Boston Bees, 2-0, in the first game of the series.

For the Bees, the defeat was but a small part of a bad afternoon. In the fifth inning, Baxter (Buck) Jordan, Boston first baseman, was accidentally spiked on the right heel by Billy Herman, Cub second sacker. Jordan, who was carried off on a stretcher, will be lost to the club for at least two weeks.

The Cub second baseman had just hit into a double play. As he stepped into the bag he stepped on Jordan's heel. The cut required five stitches.

Phils Set Back Cards

ST. LOUIS, July 15 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals almost made one of their typical ninth-inning rallies today, but it was stopped just short of its goal, and the Philadelphia Phillies took the opener of a three-game series, 5-4.

The Phils had a 5 to 2 lead going into the last of the ninth. With two out, Pepper Martin doubled and sent Terry Moore, who was safe on a fielder's choice, to third. Joe Medwick then singled both home. Sykes and Johnson were up to the mound for the weakening Bucky Walters and struck out Johnson. Mo.

Giants and Pirates Split

PITTSBURGH, July 15 (AP)—The Pirates and New York Giants put on a dizzy double-header today, featuring loose pitching and weak fielding, and when the battle was over honors were all even.

The Pirates came from behind a four-run disadvantage to take the opener, 5-4, in ten innings, and then escaped ahead and committed six errors as the Giants clubbed out sixteen hits for a 14-4 edge in the nightcap.

Reds Take Dodgers

CINCINNATI, July 15 (AP)—A bad first inning, in which Tommy Baker walked four men and his successor, Brandt, allowed two hits, gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5 to 3 victory over Brooklyn tonight in the fifth night game of the National League season.

Baker, who pitched but one-third of an inning, was charged with the loss.

The Dodgers went through most of the game without the services of their manager, Casey Stengel, who was chased by Umpire Goetz in the third for arguing over a close one at first base. It was the first time all season that Stengel was on the bench.

The paid attendance of 7,477 was more than doubled by 9,728 "last-night" visitors.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—The league-leading Yankees and second-place Detroit Tigers divided honours today in a double header opener to 10-10. "Crusin'" George M. Cochrane returned to his old job as manager of the world's champions.

Goslin's homer, with two mates on base, and Schoolboy Rowe's seven-hit pitching gave the Tigers the first game, 5-1, but the Yanks came back to score early in the second game, and, behind Pat Malone's tight relief pitching, pulled out a 7-4 decision.

The split left the Yanks lead at nine games, despite their recent slump.

A crowd of 50,000 turned out.

Security Prices Hold Steady at New York Mart

NEW YORK. July 15 (CP)—The stock market was bountiful about by profit-taking squalls today but managed to make the home port with more of its rigging intact.

Earnings and high dividend hopes lent support to many issues, a number of which closed up 1 to 2 or more points at new five-year peaks.

Realizing failed to chill bullish sentiment to any appreciable extent in the commodity houses. The recent market advance, it was said, tended to induce the lightening of commitments here and there.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks edged up 1 of a point, to 68.5, another new peak since July 6, 1931. It was the seventh day's consecutive advance of this average. Transfers totalled 1,978,244 shares, the largest since April 30, last. Yesterday's aggregate was 1,659,630.

Westinghouse found a new following for a game of 2-7-8 at 133 1/2 as its electrical appliance sales continued to show better than seasonal performance.

American Telephone off 1 3/4 at 170 7-8 was backward throughout, although the company's consolidated net for twelve months ended May 31, while not quite meeting the current dividend rate was the best in several years.

Stocks on the upside included Pennsylvania at 35 3-8; Westinghouse at 39 3-8 and Bethlehem at 53 1-4.

In the losing category were General Motors at 69 3-4; U.S. Steel at 62 1-4; American Can at 136; Western Union at 88 and J. I. Case at 169 1-8.

Raising the Federal Bank reserve requirements 50 per cent brought heavy selling in United States Government bonds long term maturity, but otherwise had little effect on the listed market.

Declines of a point each in Poland 7s and Uruguay 8s were the principal changes in the foreign department.

THE TUTTS... By Crawford Young

Given Choice of Method of Levy

CAMPBELL RIVER, July 15.—A letter was recently received by the school board from A. Aitken, province assessor at Cumberland, concerning the Vancouver Island Union Library.

He asked that the letter be brought before the annual meeting and a vote taken on the question if the people preferred a pro-rata levy on the valuation of property in the district or a per-capita charge on owners of property and others.

A reply was sent that the ratepayers preferred a per-capita charge.

The people of the district are hoping that the library will soon be installed here.

MILLIONS INVOLVED IN INCOME TAX CASE

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP).—Six persons were named defendants yesterday in ten indictments returned by the Federal Grand Jury, charging conspiracy to defraud the Federal Bureau of Internal Revenue of $10 million in tax returns of the Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey combined shows from 1918 to 1932, inclusive.

Jane Dixon Says:

AN EARNEST, SINCERE MAN OF GOOD CHARACTER WILL FIND A SUITABLE COMPANION AND WIFE IF HE HAS THE PATIENCE TO CONTINUE HIS SEARCH

So many women who have remained unmarried, not by choice, but for lack of opportunity to wed, charge their lonely estate to a sabotage in the man market.

Balderdash! There is no such shortage.

"Lonely Heart" letters reach me from men as well as from women. One woman will receive six proposals in the course of her life to her sister's none. Yet both have had the same training, the same background. They may even look alike.

Had they been twins, the result might have been the same—one desirable to men, the other neglected.

We radiate that which we are, and we attract others by reason of the brightness, the warmth of our radiation.

A TRAVELER WANTS A HOME
Dear Jane Dixon—it may seem strange to you that there are so many lonely hearts in our midst, but there are many reasons for them you may be sure.

Take my case—I traveled extensively until about two years ago.

Now I would appreciate home and companionship.

I am working, am sincere and completely on the level and able to furnish good references as to character.

I can meet and have met a few nice girls, but I prefer one who does not smoke or drink.

Am I asking too much?

Once again let me assure you I am sincere in my effort to find my ideal—hopeful.

A CASE OF TOO MUCH "I"

ANSWER—I have omitted that part of your letter which requests me to put you into correspondence with a client of this column. As I have so often explained, such service is against the policy of this column.

Your trouble, hopeful, seems to be too much "I" and not enough "you."

If in all your extensive travels, covering a period of years, you failed to find a girl who measures up to your ideals, it seems reasonable to suppose that you will not receive that ideal in a stamped envelope.

I suspect you were not considering marriage during your roving days. You were enjoying your freedom, your single estate. And now that you have settled down and feel the need of a home and a wife-companion, you expect quick action from Providence.

Accept my solemn assurance of this fact—there are plenty of eligible brides within travel distance of you at this moment, but it is up to you to find the right one by and for yourself.

NOT VERY OBSERVING

Finding a mate is a task that no human being should have the temerity to attempt—a task that no human being honestly can perform in behalf of his fellow.

If you prefer a woman who neither drinks nor smokes, eliminate as companions those who do so, and search for those who abstain. You'll find them, and when you do, you will be glad to exchange these habits for a good home and a compatible human being.

An earnest, sincere man of good character will find a suitable companion and wife if he has the patience to continue his search and if he will let friendliness, companionability, tolerance and generosity accompany his search.

I wish you luck—I regret I cannot divulge the name of the client with whom you would like to correspond.
